WAYS TO DEAL WITH TRANSITIONS

You have three choices to deal with transitions:

- You can refuse to accept it
- You can accept it but just put up with it to survive
- You can accept it and try to benefit from it and grow

SMALL GROUP DISCUSSION

- How do you typically respond during times of transition?
- What is most helpful during transitions?
- What is most challenging?
  - Family issues
  - PCSing
  - Working with new individuals
- What item or object brings you the most comfort during transitions?

R.A.F.T.

- Reconciliation
- Affirmation
- Farewell
  - People
  - Places
  - Possessions – period of grief, pack the house up, unpack at the new house
- Think next (plan ahead)
  - Expectations
  - Don't worry: look at what you have control over

STRUGGLE WITH RE-ENGAGEMENT

- Choose not to re-engage
- Don't like or know the new culture/environment
  - This could even be just a new region of the same country
- Fear of losing old friends and support systems
- Personality styles
  - Will I get along with new service members?
  - Will my kids like the new school?
  - How will my spouse adapt?

PERSONAL GUIDELINES FOR A SMOOTHER TRANSITION

- Be Flexible
- Be Flexible
- Be Flexible

SMOOTH TRANSITION

- Ask yourself: What is the worst thing that could happen?
- When possible, plan ahead and manage one transition at a time.
- Look at ways you have successfully dealt with transitions in the past.
- Avoid overcomplicating things and overreacting
- Remember, transitions include changes in relationships, work, financial issues. These are things we face on a regular basis and do so successfully.

THE ADAPT MODEL

Adjust Expectations

- Become realistic

Develop Support

- Find resources that can help you

Activate a Commitment

- Take this as an opportunity to grow and learn

Prioritize Goals

- Make them attainable

Transition into Your New Identity

- You are a real person in a new situation

MISTAKES IN HANDLING CHANGE

- Expecting others to manage the change for you
- Deciding not to change
- Trying to control the uncontrollable
- Avoiding new assignments
- Losing sight of the personal mission

CONCLUSION

- Grief is a normal part to any major life change
- Developing coping skills is important for a smooth transition
- Adjusting expectations and developing a support system can assist with any type of transition
- Remember you have been successful in the past with change and transitions
